Building the Next Generation of Healthy Communities
Join us in Dallas for the 2015 ACHI National Conference! You and your colleagues from across the country will work together for three days building the next generation of healthy communities.

ACHI is a personal membership group of the American Hospital Association for community health, community benefit and population health professionals. ACHI advances healthy communities by offering education, resources, tools, professional development and networking opportunities through its website, national conference and other member benefits.

PRE-CONFERENCE WORKSHOPS:
- ReThink Health – Equipping leaders to rethink and redirect regional health systems
- Truven Health Analytics – Clarifying your journey to population health
- Institute for Diversity in Health Management – Building a diverse and inclusive workforce: Voices from the best-in-class hospitals
- National Network of Public Health Institutes – Investing in your community: Leveraging partnerships to improve population health
